

Are you ready for a change?

Schools need more people like you. We have supported over 500 people with significant experience to change career and train to teach, helping them to succeed in their new career.

Now Teach provides advice and guidance to help you apply for the training courses that suit you. Once you are training we offer one-to-one support, regular events and membership of a national career change network.

Your Experience Counts

Becoming a teacher is an opportunity to give something back, do something new and, critically, share your skills, experience and insight with young people.

Joining Now Teach means you'll also become part of a national network of like-minded career changers and receive one-to-one support as you train.

"I chose Now Teach, because why wouldn't you? I had the choice of going it alone ... or having someone to provide bespoke support and a community of like-minded individuals."

Razi Hassan, physics teacher and former business manager

HOW WE CAN WORK TOGETHER

From choosing your subject to applying for your first job as a teacher, we give you:

- Expert advice on choosing and applying for a training course
- One-to-one support from a dedicated Programme Manager
- Monthly events led by education experts
- A network of career-changing teachers
